Original Oil & Paper Works

What is done with love is done well.

"I want to make drawings that move some people... Whether in figures or in landscapes, I would like to express not something sentimentally melancholic but deep sorrow."

— Vincent Willem van Gogh

About

These paintings are my creations — born from moments, places, and feelings I wanted to hold onto long enough to paint. I also hope they can serve, in a small way, as a form of support: 10% of the proceeds from works sold will be donated to research related to bipolar disorder.

The works on this site have accumulated slowly over the past few years. There aren't many — partly because I paint slowly, and partly because I don't want to make something simply for the sake of making it. More than trying to create something impressive, I want the work to feel honest. If you paused for a moment in front of a certain painting, perhaps that pause is enough. It may be saying what I hoped it would.

How to Buy

Each original is a unique physical piece and is taken down once sold. 10% of each order goes toward research related to bipolar disorder. The process is simple:

- 01 Click "Buy" under a piece to go to a secure checkout page
- 02 After payment, I'll follow up by email to confirm your shipping address
- 03 The piece is carefully packaged and shipped, with a tracking number provided

International orders: any import duties or customs fees are the buyer's responsibility, and vary by destination country.
